

This past weekend I was going through an old CD binder, just like this one pictured. What started out as a simple quick organization of my office turned into a dramatic trip down memory lane. In it I managed to find some old portfolio DVDs with some work I did over a decade ago.

One of those projects was a Dark Age of Camelot Mod website named Heimdall.

